

The Spanish Wedding

BY MARÍA TORICES LAVÍN

- In Spain, people often get married in a church.

- The man wears a black suit with a tie and the woman wears a white dress.

The bride and groom are received with a wedding march and at the end of the ceremony they exchange rings.

- When they are leaving the church, people throw lots of rice at them and the bride throws her bouquet to her friends.

- Finally, there is a banquet with many guests, music and a lot of fun.

The end.
